

Booker Prize 2025 | National Current Affairs | 14 Nov 2025

Why in News?

Author David Szalay has won the 2025 Booker Prize for his fictional novel Flesh.

Key Points

- About the Winner:
 - David Szalay is a Hungarian-British novelist known for his precise, economical prose and deep exploration of masculinity, identity, and contemporary European life.
 - With Flesh, he reinforces his reputation as a writer who captures the inner lives of ordinary men with unusual clarity, situating their personal struggles against broader social and economic landscapes.
- About Booker Prize:
 - The Booker Prize (formerly the Man Booker Prize) is one of the world's most prestigious literary awards. It was established in 1969 and is run by the Booker Prize Foundation.
 - It honours the best original full-length novel written in English and published in the UK or Ireland. Writers of any nationality have been eligible to compete since 2014.
 - The award aims to promote excellence in English-language fiction and encourage wider readership.
 - Indian winners include Arundhati Roy (1997), Kiran Desai (2006), and Aravind Adiga (2008).

Difference Between Booker Prize & International Booker Prize

- The Booker Prize was first awarded in 1969 and is for the best single work of fiction originally written in English.
- The International Booker Prize was established later in 2005 and is for the best single work of fiction translated into English from any other language.
- It recognizes the achievement of both the author and the translator.