Parliament (Part-I)

Introduction

- Supreme Legislative Body: The Parliament is the legislative organ of a Union government and the Parliament of India is its supreme legislative body.
  - It occupies a pre-eminent and central position in the Indian democratic political system due to the adoption of the Parliamentary form of Government (‘Westminster’ model of government).
- First Parliament: The first general elections under the new Constitution of India were held during the year 1951-52 and the first elected Parliament came into existence in April, 1952.
- Constitutional Provisions: Articles 79 to 122 in Part V of the Constitution deal with the organisation, composition, duration, officers, procedures, privileges and powers of the Parliament.
- Frame of Reference for Parliament: The framers of the Indian Constitution relied on the British pattern for Parliament rather than the American pattern.
  - The President is not an integral part of the legislature in the USA, however, in India, it is.

Organs of Parliament

- Rajya Sabha (The Council of States):
  - About: It is the Upper House (Second Chamber or House of Elders) and it represents the states and union territories of the Indian Union.
    - The Rajya Sabha is called the permanent House of the Parliament as it is never fully dissolved.
    - The IV Schedule of the Indian Constitution deals with the allocation of seats in the Rajya Sabha to the states and UTs.
  - Composition: The maximum strength of Rajya Sabha is 250 (out of which 238 members are representatives of the states & UTs (elected indirectly) and 12 are nominated by the President).
    - Current strength of the house is 245, 229 members represent the states, 4 members represent the UTs and 12 are nominated by the president.
  - Election of Representatives: The representatives of states are elected by the members of state legislative assemblies.
    - The representatives of each UT in the Rajya Sabha are indirectly elected by members of an electoral college specially constituted for the purpose.
      - Only three UTs (Delhi, Puducherry and Jammu & Kashmir) have representation in Rajya Sabha (others don’t have enough population).
      - The members nominated by the President are those who have special knowledge or practical experience in art, literature, science and social service.
    - The rationale is to provide eminent persons a place in the house without going through elections.

Functions: Rajya Sabha has an important role of reviewing and altering the laws initiated by the Lok Sabha.

- It can also initiate legislation and a bill is required to pass through the Rajya Sabha in order to become a law.

Power:

- State Related Matters: The Rajya Sabha provides representation to the States. Therefore, any matter that affects the States must be referred to it for its consent and approval.
  - If the Union Parliament wishes to remove/transfer a matter from the State list, the approval of the Rajya Sabha is necessary.

Lok Sabha (The House of the People):

- About: It is the Lower House (First Chamber or Popular House and it represents the people of India as a whole.
- Composition: The maximum strength of the Lok Sabha is fixed at 550 out of which 530 members are to be the representatives of the states and 20 of the UTs.
  - The current strength of Lok Sabha is 543, out of which 530 members represent the states and 13 represent the UTs.
  - Earlier, the President also nominated two members from the Anglo-Indian community, but by the 95th Amendment Act, 2009, this provision was valid till 2020 only.
- Election of Representatives: The representatives of states are directly elected by the people from the territorial constituencies in the states.
  - By the Union Territories (Direct Election to the House of the People) Act, 1965, the members of Lok Sabha from the UTs are chosen by direct election.
- Functions: One of the most important functions of the Lok Sabha is to select the executive, a group of persons who work together to implement the laws made by the Parliament.
  - This executive is often what we have in mind when we use the term government.
- Powers:
  - Decisions in Joint Sitting: Any ordinary law needs to be passed by both the Houses.
    - However, in case of any difference between the two Houses, the final decision is taken by calling a joint session of both the Houses.
    - Due to a larger strength, the view of the Lok Sabha is likely to prevail in such a meeting.
  - Power in Money Matters: Lok Sabha exercises more powers in money matters. Once the Lok Sabha passes the budget of the government or any other money related law, the Rajya Sabha cannot reject it.
    - The Rajya Sabha can only delay it by 14 days or suggest changes in it, however, the former may or may not accept these changes.
  - Power over Council of Ministers: The Lok Sabha controls the Council of Ministers.
    - If the majority of the Lok Sabha members say they have ‘no confidence’ in the Council of Ministers, all ministers including the Prime Minister, have to quit.
    - The Rajya Sabha does not have this power.

President:
- About: The President of India is not a member of either of the Houses and does not sit in the Parliament to attend its meetings but s/he is an integral part of the Parliament.
  - S/He is the head of the state and is the highest formal authority in the country.
- Appointment: The elected Members of Parliament (MPs) and the elected Members of the Legislative Assemblies (MLAs) elect the President of India.
- Powers:
  - Assent for Passing a Bill: A bill passed by both the Houses of Parliament cannot become law without the President's assent.
  - Summoning and Prorogation of Houses: He has the power to summon and prorogue both the Houses, dissolve the Lok Sabha and issue ordinances when the Houses are not in session.

Membership of Parliament

    - Has been dismissed from government service for corruption or disloyalty to the State.
    - Convicted for promoting enmity between different groups or for the offence of bribery.
- Punished for preaching and practising social crimes such as untouchability, dowry and sati.

- Tenure:
  - Rajya Sabha: Every member of Rajya Sabha enjoys a safe tenure of six years.
    - One-third of its members retire after every two years. They are entitled to contest again for the membership.
  - Lok Sabha: The normal term of Lok Sabha is five years. But the President, on the advice of the Council of Ministers, may dissolve it before the expiry of five years.
    - In the case of national emergency, its term can be extended for one year at a time. But it will not exceed six months after the emergency is over.

- Officials:
  - Rajya Sabha: The Vice-President of India is the ex-officio Chairman of the Rajya Sabha. S/He presides over the meetings of Rajya Sabha.
    - In his absence the Deputy Chairman (elected by its members from amongst themselves) presides over the meeting of the House.
  - Lok Sabha: The presiding officer of Lok Sabha is known as Speaker.
    - S/He remains the Speaker even after Lok Sabha is dissolved till the next House elects a new Speaker in her/his place.
    - In the speaker’s absence, a Deputy Speaker (elected by the House) presides over the meetings.

Powers/Functions of Parliament

- Legislative Functions: Only Parliament can make laws on the subjects of the Union List. Along with the State Legislatures, the Parliament is empowered to make laws on the Concurrent List.
  - In a subject not mentioned in any list, the residuary powers are vested with the Parliament.
- Financial Functions: It is the custodian of the public money. The Government can neither impose any tax on the public nor spend the money without the approval of the Parliament.
  - The budget is approved by the Parliament every year.
- Electoral Functions: It participates in the election of the President of India and also elects the Vice-President.
  - The Lok Sabha elects its Speaker and Deputy Speaker and the Rajya Sabha elects its Deputy Chairman.
- Power of Removal: Certain high functionaries may be removed from office on the initiative of the Parliament.
  - It can remove the President, Judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts through impeachment for violation of the Constitution.
- Amendment of the Constitution: Most of the parts of the Constitution can be amended by the Parliament by special majority.
  - Certain provisions can only be amended by the Parliament with the approval of States.
  - The Parliament cannot change the basic structure of the Constitution.
- Power over Executive: Parliament exercises control over the Executive through question-hour, zero hour, calling attention notice, adjournment motion etc.
  - The government always takes these motions very seriously because the government’s policies are criticized severely and their likely impact on the electorate whom the government would have to face ultimately.
