

Integrated Battle Groups

In order to modernise and reform the Army, Indian Army is planning to raise Integrated Battle Groups (IBGs) along the borders with Pakistan that will help it carry out swift strikes in case of war.

Background

- After the Parliament terrorist attack(2001), Indian Army undertook massive mobilisation of troops but it lost the element of surprise due to delay.
- Therefore, to launch swift offensive mobilisation of troops, Indian Army formulated the proactive doctrine of "Cold Start" in 2004, but its existence was consistently denied in the past. In 2017, it was acknowledged for the first time by General Vipin Rawat. The Vision

Integrated Battle Groups

What are Integrated Battle Groups?

 IBGs are brigade – sized, agile, self-sufficient combat formations

Each of them is tailormade based on Threat. Terrain & Task, Resources will be allotted based on the three T's

They will be able to mobilise within 12 - 48 hrs based on the location

Concept of IBG pilottested by 9 Corps. They are reorganising based on the feedback and will be restructured by August end

Army will approach Centre for sanction after that

- It will be formed by integrating the existing elements of infantry, tank regiments, artillery, Unmanned Aerial Vehicles(UAVs), engineers and signals.
- It will have six battalions of infantry, armoured and artillery, commanded by Major General or Brigadier.

Source: The Hindu

PDF Refernece URL: https://www.drishtiias.com/printpdf/integrated-battle-groups

