Why Mamallapuram is chosen?

- India has chosen Mamallapuram as a symbol of India's 'soft power'.
- Mamallapuram is an important town of the erstwhile Pallava dynasty that ruled in parts of South India from 275 CE to 897 CE.
- The name Mamallapuram got distorted during the British era to Mahabalipuram and thus it is also known as Mahabalipuram.
- The city of Mamallapuram was founded by the Pallava king Narasimhavarman I in the 7th century AD.
 - The name Mamallapuram derives from Mamallan, or "great warrior", a title by which the Pallava King Narasimhavarman I was known.
- It is renowned for its architecture, widely admired across the world.
- Mamallapuram and the Pallava dynasty are also historically relevant, for the earliest recorded security pact between China and India (in the early 8th century) that involved a Pallava king (Rajasimhan, or Narasimha Varma II), from whom the Chinese sought help to counter Tibet.

Wuhan Spirit:

- Wuhan Spirit is in line with the five principles of peaceful coexistence (Panchsheel) jointly advocated by China and India in the 1950s.
- Wuhan Spirit highlighted
 - To form the "backbone" of economic globalization, and they should jointly make positive contributions to global peace and development.
 - To cooperate, for the first time ever, on a joint project in Afghanistan.
 - China has indicated that India's refusal to join the Belt and Road Initiative will not come in the way of economic cooperation.

Fujian Province

- It is located on the southeastern coast of China, situated opposite the island of Taiwan.
- Fujian (meaning "Happy Establishment") is one of the country's smaller provinces.
