Important Sites

Markandeshwar Temple, Maharashtra //

- Archaeological Survey of India initiated the restoration work of Markandeshwar temple in Maharashtra.
 - Known as the "Khajuraho of Vidarbha", the temple of Markandadeo is situated on the bank of River Wainganga in district Gadchiroli of Maharashtra.

Phuggaon, Maharashtra

- The recent excavation carried out by Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) at Maharashtra's Phuggaon has revealed evidence of an Iron Age settlement in the Vidarbha region.
- The site is situated in the vast meander of the river Purna, a major tributary of Tapi, which used to be a perennial river, but at present is completely dried-up due to the dam construction in the upper stream.
- Chronologically, the site could be placed between 7th C BCE and 4th C BCE.

Gottiprolu, Andhra Pradesh

- Excavations indicate it as a Trade Centre of Early Historic Period.
- The site lies on the right bank of a distributary of river Swarnamukhi.
- The proximity of the site (at southern coastal location) to the seacoast suggests that the site could have served as a strategic settlement involved in maritime trade.
- Among many other antiquities unearthed are one life-size Vishnu sculpture and a wide variety of pottery of the early centuries of current era.
