Why in News?

The cancellation of Foreign Contribution Regulation Act, 2010 (FCRA) registrations for two prominent non-governmental organisations (NGOs) - the Centre for Policy Research (CPR) and World Vision India (WVI) - has sparked discussions about the regulatory landscape governing foreign contributions in India.

What led to the Cancellation of the Registrations of CPR and WVI?

- The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) accused CPR of redirecting foreign donations to support protests and legal challenges against development projects, claiming misuse of funds to impact India's economic interests.
 - The allegation includes the violation of FCRA norms through the production of current affairs programs, citing CPR's report on air pollution as an example.
 - The MHA asserts that publishing such programs with foreign funds contravenes Section 3 of the FCRA.
- Additionally, the registration of World Vision India was revoked for alleged FCRA violations spanning from 2012-13 to 2020-21.
 - WVI is the recipient of the highest amount of foreign donations among all NGOs registered under the Act in 1986.

What is the FCRA?

- About: The FCRA was enacted in 1976 during the Emergency period due to concerns about foreign interference in India's affairs through financial support to independent organisations.
 - It was designed to regulate foreign donations to prevent any adverse impact on internal security, ensuring alignment with the principles of a sovereign democratic republic.
- Evolution of FCRA:
 - 2010 Amendment: Enacted to streamline regulations governing the acceptance and use of foreign contributions by specific individuals or associations, and to forbid such contributions for activities harmful to national interests.
 - 2020 Amendment:
 - Providing Aadhaar numbers of all key functionaries of NGOs, receipt of foreign contribution only through designated FCRA bank accounts with the State Bank of India
 - Complete ban on domestic transfer of foreign funds

- Reduction of administrative expense limit from 50% to 20%
- Applicability: FCRA mandates registration for all associations, groups, and NGOs intending to receive foreign donations.
 - Initially valid for 5 years with the possibility of renewal upon compliance with prescribed norms
- Purposes of Foreign Contributions: Registered associations can receive foreign contributions for social, educational, religious, economic, and cultural purposes.
- Monitoring Authority: Ministry of Home Affairs
 - In 2015, the MHA mandated NGOs to operate accounts in banks with core banking facilities for real-time security access.
 - In 2023, the MHA amended rules for FCRA-registered NGOs, now necessitating the disclosure of assets created using foreign funds in their annual returns.

How NGOs are Regulated in India?

About:

- As defined by the World Bank, NGOs refers to not-for-profit organisations that pursue activities to relieve suffering, promote the interests of the poor, protect the environment, provide basic social services, or undertake community development.
 - However, the term NGO in India denotes a wide spectrum of organisations which may be non-governmental, quasi or semi governmental, voluntary or non-voluntary etc.
- Registration and Regulation: Majorly, NGOs can register as either trusts, societies, or companies under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013. Each form has its own set of rules and regulations for registration and governance.
 - Trusts: Governed by the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, or equivalent state laws, requiring registration with the Charity Commissioner's office.
 - Societies: Registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, or its state-specific variations, with the Registrar of Societies.
 - Section 8 Companies: Registered similar to commercial companies but with non-profit objectives.
- NGO-DARPAN Platform: It provides space for interface between NGOs and Central Ministries / Departments / Government Bodies.
 - This is a free facility offered by the NITI Aayog in association with National Informatics Centre to bring about greater partnership between government & voluntary sector and foster better transparency, efficiency and accountability.
