 - Building people's pressure for better implementation of programmes.

- Framework Associated with Social Audit in India:
 - Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) 2005: Section 17 of the Act stipulates that the gram sabha is responsible for monitoring work execution.
 - Independent social audit units in each state are mandated to operate independently from implementing authorities, emphasising community-driven verification of program implementation.
 - The Meghalaya Community Participation and Public Services Social Audit Act, 2017: This state-level legislation stands as the first of its kind in India, making social audits a mandatory practice.
 - Framework for Social Audit on Implementation of BOCW Act: The Ministry of Labour & Employment has issued a framework for conducting social audits under the Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 2013.
 - Right to Information Act, 2005: It has played a significant role in supporting the Social Audit system in India. It enhances transparency and access to information, which underpins the effectiveness of social audits by providing access to relevant documents and data
 - National Resource Cell for Social Audit (NRCSA): The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment has established the NRCSA. This entity ensures social audits through dedicated Social Audit Units at the state level.
- Challenges Related to Social Audit In India:
 - Lack of Standardization: The absence of standardised procedures for social audits lead to variations in methodologies and reporting. A lack of uniformity makes it difficult to compare results across different projects and regions.
 - Lack of Awareness and Capacity: Limited awareness and understanding of social audit processes among stakeholders, including local communities, can hinder effective implementation.
 - Limited participation from marginalized or vulnerable groups in the social audit process lead to incomplete or biased assessments.
 - Political Interference: Social audits face political interference, influencing the independence and objectivity of the audit process. Pressure from local authorities or political figures can compromise the integrity of the findings.
 - Resource Constraints: Social audits require resources, both financial and human. Many local bodies lack the necessary funds and expertise to conduct comprehensive social audits, limiting their effectiveness.
 - Limited Capacity and Training: The social audit units, which are meant to detect any cases of malpractice, are suffering because of lack of funds and trained professionals.

Way Forward

- Blockchain for Transparency: Explore the use of blockchain technology to enhance transparency and integrity in social audits. Blockchain can provide a secure and tamperproof platform for storing audit information, ensuring the authenticity of data.
- Accessibility and Representation: Simplify audit processes and make information readily available in local languages and formats.
 - Ensure diverse participation from marginalised groups, women, and youth through targeted incentives.
- Standardisation and Whistleblower Protection: Develop clear and uniform guidelines for conducting social audits across different programs and states.
 - Enact strong legal safeguards to protect individuals who report irregularities.
