Stratocumulus Clouds

- A recent study has warned that increasing Carbon Dioxide levels can warm the Earth dramatically and can lead to hothouse conditions.
  - The Stratocumulus clouds that reflects sunlight back into space could break up and vanish if CO<sub>2</sub> in the atmosphere triples.
  - Stratocumulus clouds cover about 20% of subtropical oceans and when they disappear, Earth warms dramatically, by about eight degrees. This is in addition to the global warming that comes from enhanced greenhouse concentrations alone.
  - A temperature increase of that magnitude would melt polar ice and lift sea levels dozens of meters.

Types of Clouds

- According to their height, expanse, density and transparency or opaqueness clouds are grouped under four types:
  - Cirrus: Cirrus clouds are formed at high altitudes (8,000 - 12,000m). They are thin and detached clouds having a feathery appearance. They are always white in colour.
  - Cumulus: Cumulus clouds look like cotton wool. They are formed at a height of 4,000 - 7,000 m. They exist in patches and can be seen scattered here and there. They have a flat base.
  - Stratus: These are layered clouds covering large portions of the sky. These clouds are generally formed either due to loss of heat or due to the mixing of air masses with different temperatures.
  - Nimbus: Nimbus clouds are black or dark gray. They form at middle levels or very near to the surface of the earth. These are extremely dense and opaque to the rays of the sun.
- A combination of these four basic types can give rise to the following types of clouds:
  - High clouds – cirrus, cirrostratus, cirrocumulus;
  - Middle clouds – altostratus and altocumulus;
  - Low clouds – stratocumulus and nimbostratus and clouds with extensive vertical development – cumulus and cumulonimbus.
